BASEBALL GAMES AND AMERICAN LEGION PICNIC PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS ON NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

One hundred per cent patriotism characterized the programs and entertainments held in this city yesterday and the day before. The Fourth of July falling on Sunday caused the citizenship of the Double-A city to observe the fifth instead, and all day yesterday every business house in the city, with the exception of the eating and drinking emporiums, was closed tighter than the proverbial jug.

On Sunday morning the churches throughout the city enjoyed most splendid congregations, notwithstanding the fact that many parties were formed and departed early for Sulphur and other pleasure resorts within reach by automobile.

In the afternoon the principal attraction was one of the best ball games of the season, played by Ada and Chandler on the local diamond, resulting in a victory for the local team, the score being two to one.

Yesterday morning early the crowds began to arrive at the city lake for the big American legion picnic, and the continued to come throughout the day. The picnic grounds were on the western hillside overlooking the lake, and the legion boys overlooked nothing in the way of amusement and sport. The speech of the day was delivered at 10 o'clock in the morning by Hon. R. C. Roland, local attorney and candidate for representative from this county, and from that hour on the festivities were unabated.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the program at the park was practically suspended and from there the immense crowd went to the fair grounds park where they witnessed the last of a series of three splendid ball games between Ada and Chandler. At this game the tie of Saturday and Sunday was played off, the honors going to Chandler with a score of eight to two.

In the evening the populace and our visitors from out of town again repaired to the city lake to witness the remainder of the American legion's big picnic and celebration. The chief feature of the evening program was the boxing bouts. The first was a battle royal between four ebony brethren from Darktown, while the main bout was between Guy Young of this city and "Kid" Kennon of Francis. The bout was staged to go ten rounds, but near the end of the ninth the man from the division point from the north injured his hand and forced the referee to call time. The honors appeared to be about even between the two budding pugilists.

Late in the evening the big picnic crowd indulged in dancing and other pastimes and witnessed an excellent display of fireworks. The local post of the legion will net a handsome little profit from the enterprise, and no one has yet been heard to say that they failed to have a splendid good time.

Laws Arrested Man and Liquor on the Canadian

County and federal enforcement officers made a drive along the Canadian yesterday and captured W. F. Mayers in whose possession they found a quantity of wildcat whiskey. This is not the first time Mayers has been arrested on liquor charges, there being other cases against him at the present time. He was taken to Holdenville this morning by Joe Foster for appearance before the United States commissioner.

To the Editor: We are very happy to express our appreciation of the splendid editorials appearing from time to time in your paper, especially those about Sabbath observance, and church attendance. At the morning preaching service last Sunday the congregation, by a rising vote, extended to you their thanks. ### FEELING OF MONEY

Too many of our good Americans do little more than feel of the hard coin they work to earn. They are easy victims of the vendors of wares and sellers of goods. They succumb easily to the suggestive tones of the salesperson.

This is not meant to condemn purchasing things of value, but only the luxurious and unnecessary purchases of the mediocre class. Some have it that it is a mark of erudition to show the world how little they care for America's medium of exchange.

Someone pity the poor sport who tries to make clothes elevate his standing. Also, pity the family that spends its earnings for temporary pleasures and neglects saving for the permanent pleasures.

Miserliness is always to be condemned, but is it miserliness to "lay off" buying non-essentials when there are many essentials you lack? The answer of all sane-minded people is, NO! There is nothing but words of praise to be heaped upon the head of him who denies himself something in preparation for the proverbial rainy day.—O.V.M.

CONGRESSMAN DICK T. MORGAN IS DEAD

Dick T. Morgan, representative in congress from the eighth district of Oklahoma, died at Danville, Ill., Sunday night from lobular pneumonia.

He had represented his district in congress for the last 12 years, having been elected in 1909.

Dick Thompson Morgan was born at Prairie Creek, Ind., in 1854. He attended the Union Christian college at Merem, Ind., and later studied law in the Central Law school of Indianapolis. He was given a degree in Bethany college.

He was married at Merem, Ind., his wife being Mary Maxwell Heath, Lawyer and Editor.

Mr. Morgan practiced law in Terre Haute and in 1880 was elected to the house of representatives of Indiana. He took up newspaper work and published the Terre Haute Courier from 1880 to 1886.

Selling his newspaper he moved to the west to make his fortune. He first settled at Garden City, Kans., where he practiced law from 1886 to 1889. When Oklahoma was opened for settlement he went to Guthrie. He was appointed registrar of the U. S. land office at Woodward, Okla., where he served from 1904 to 1908. He was particularly strong with the people of his district by reason of aiding the farmers and the homeseekers of the new country.

Attorneys From Ada Form New Firm At Okmulgee

A new partnership in the law business has been formed at Okmulgee by Leslie Maxey and C. E. B. Culler, both of whom formerly lived in Ada and have a large number of friends here. They are both live and competent attorneys and are located in one of the live cities of Oklahoma. Their friends in Pontotoc county wish them unbounded success and are sure they will have that success.

THREE BIG BALL GAMES PLAYED

ADA AND CHANDLER MIX IN THREE-ROUND BATTLE ON JULY 3, 4 AND 5—THE VISITORS TWO BEST.

Three of the cleanest ball games ever played on the Ada diamond were those played here Saturday, Sunday and Monday between the Chandler and Ada teams.

Both teams were in fine fettle when they crossed bats Saturday and the enthusiasm continued until the end of the last game yesterday when Chandler plowed into the Ada club and beat them out to the tune of eight to two.

The first game, played Saturday, resulted in a score of two to one for Chandler. Sunday's game resulted in the same score for Ada, and the visitors untied the knot yesterday to the tune above mentioned.

You seldom see a finer bunch of fellows than those composing the Chandler team and all three of the games went off without the jar that is sometimes manifest. We were unable to give the games by plays or the box score for the reason that the same was not furnished us by the official scorekeeper as has been customary in the past.

Fight Between Two Local Carpenters Saturday Night

Saturday evening about 6 o'clock two carpenters of the city, A. A. Robertson and one Mr. Clark, walked into the Red Front restaurant on East Main. There was some evidence, according to the story of the proprietor of the restaurant, that some form of alcoholic stimulant had been absorbed by one or both parties. Robertson and Clark asked the proprietor how much he would take for possession of the whole restaurant. It was offered for $50 and Robertson put up $20 and Clark put up $30. Then, after handing over the money, they decided they did not want to purchase the restaurant and asked for their money. The proprietor proceeded to count out their money. The money lay on the counter and Clark got only $10 back and Robertson got the remaining $40. Clark then asked for the rest of his money, and, upon refusal, persuaded Robertson out back of the restaurant where he proceeded to beat him up. Robertson made a pass at Clark with a knife to start it, so the story goes, but Clark used only such weapons as nature endows every man with.

Anyway, Robertson came out of the deal pretty badly beaten up. He is reported as improving from the injuries received.

Colored Gun Man Arrested With Gun At White Picnic

One rather large negro and one very small derringer were confiscated last night at the lake by Byars Chapman. The negro, who enjoys the cognomen of Guy Simpkins, was taking in the sights and sounds of the big picnic and in order to enter properly into the spirit of the occasion had armed himself with an imitation pistol. The peace law got an eye on that pair however and brought them into the high court for future disposition.

Booze Factory Is Captured Down on Boggy Yesterday

Sheriff Duncan and others captured a quantity of unfinished booze and parts of a distillery yesterday while most everyone was celebrating the national holiday. The outfit was located on the Rolloff farm on Boggy south of Ada. Several barrels of mash and about all of a still except the worm was seized. The operator of the outfit was not apprehended.

Another Divorce Suit.
Mrs. Josie Rogers filed suit for divorce in the district court yesterday. She states in her petition that she married Franklin B. Rogers at Muskogee in December, 1914, and that he deserted her in October, 1917. Wherefore she asks for divorce and the costs of this action. She is represented by W. A. Delaney of Allen.

"We Told You So."

Just four months and a day before it happened the Evening News predicted the nomination of Governor Cox by the San Francisco convention. On March 4 we ran the following editorial:

"In the meantime there is a young man up the Ohio Valley who is busy sawing gubernatorial wood and remaining silent in seven languages. Not yet caught in the backfire of political recrimination he maintains a position of great strategic importance. He has the unrivalled merit of being able to draw the electoral vote of Ohio and probably Indiana to the democratic column. No other man yet mentioned promises as much to democratic success. It is among the greatest of probabilities that the democratic hosts will be led in this year of grace by Governor Cox of Ohio."

When we predicted Cox's nomination in March we did not know that Harding of Ohio would be nominated at Chicago in June. The nomination of the man from Marion vastly increased the chances of the man from Dayton. The democrats doubted if Harding could be beaten in Ohio by any other candidate than Cox. They had no doubt that the Buckeye governor could discomfit the Buckeye senator. Hence the nomination of Cox became almost a certainty from the midnight hour when a half-dozen men in the Blackstone hotel at Chicago ordered a national convention to nominate Warren G. Harding.

With the same confidence that impelled us to predict Cox's nomination four months before the national convention, we now predict the election of Cox four months before the national election. The tide has turned in the oceans of politics and the stars in their courses are fighting for democracy. The gage of battle thrown down by Lodge as a sop to the Hun has been picked up by Homer Cummings in his clan call to Americans: "We never have apologized for winning the war and we never intend to apologize." On this issue the hosts of Democracy, led by the governor of Ohio, advance to the contest undaunted and unafraid.

The Three Times Governor of Ohio Breaks Deadlock and Is Named to Lead the Hosts of Democracy to What Seems Certain Victory in November.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. — James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning, by the democrat national convention, in the break-up of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took forty-four ballots to make a choice and it was not until the thirty-eighth, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long succession of roll calls showed any definite trend.

In the turn-over of the Palmer delegates, Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for the first place, since early in the balloting and that advantage never was lost.

With its choice made, the convention adjourned until noon today, to name a candidate for the vice-presidency.

Governor Cox was nominated for the presidency at 1:40 this morning on the forty-fourth ballot. When balloting on the forty-fourth vote had gotten to a point where Cox had 702 votes and was rapidly approaching the necessary two-thirds of 729, the majority number to nominate, Sam B. Amidon, of Kansas, manager of the McAdoo forces and vice-chairman of the democrat national committee, took the platform and moved that the nomination of Governor Cox be made unanimous. The motion formally was voted on at 1:43 and on suspension of rules Cox was nominated by acclamation.

Of the forty-four ballots, two were taken last Friday night; fourteen at the first session Saturday and six at the night session. There were twenty-two recorded yesterday, fourteen at the day session and eight last night.

Cox began the fight with 134 on the first ballot and climbed steadily until the fifteenth, when he had 468½. His lowest vote after that was on the thirty-fifth, the first taken at last night's session, when it fell to 376½.

A curious thing in the voting for McAdoo, was that he received 266 on the first ballot and 266½ on the last ballot.

At the time Cox had 490 votes, Palmer opened with 256. His highest vote was 267½ on the seventh ballot.

COX RECEIVES THE NEWS.

DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—Governor James M. Cox, who was nominated for the presidency by the democrat national convention early today, declined to make a statement regarding his victory until after he has received notification from the convention.

The governor received the news of his nomination in his newspaper office, the Dayton News, surrounded by fellow newspaper men and a few relatives and intimate friends.

When the Associated Press wires flashed the news of his nomination, his first act was to cross the room and kiss his wife.

WILSON CONGRATULATES COX.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 6.—Congratulations from President Wilson were received by Governor Cox this morning, upon his nomination. The message from the White House received at the governor's office in Columbus this morning and transmitted to him in his office at Dayton read as follows:

"Please accept my hearty congratulations and cordial best wishes. Signed, Woodrow Wilson"

MCADOO SAYS HE IS GLAD.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 6.—When William G. McAdoo was informed on rising this morning that James M. Cox of Ohio had been nominated as the democrat candidate for the presidency his only comment was:

"I am relieved and delighted that the call did not come to me." Mr. McAdoo showed every evidence that he was pleased and explained he would have a statement to make later in the day.

Break of the Deadlock.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—With the 37th ballot, Palmer's strength took another drop, amidst wild jubulations by the McAdoo supporters. Chairman Robinson fought for order and led Former Representative Carlin of Virginia, Palmer's manager, to the speaker's stand. The crowd hushed. It recognized Carlin and knew that his appearance forecast but one thing, the release of the Palmer delegates and a break up in the deadlock.

Carlin briefly stated that Attorney General Palmer was no longer willing to delay a nomination, and authorized the complete and unconditional release of his delegates. Back again in their seats under the banging urge of the gavel, the delegates awaited the 39th roll call. The Cox forces scented victory right there. The Cox band dropped into the galleries and hurried the strain of the Cox battle song, "Ohio, Ohio," down through the excited crowd.

Both McAdoo and Cox gained on the 41st ballot. The McAdoo supporters grimly determined on a last ditch fight. When Georgia was reached the delegate chairman leaped to his chair and shouted that his state, formerly in the McAdoo ranks, would join hands with the Ohio forces to name the next president. He cast the solid Georgia vote for Cox.

The 43rd roll call began in a riot of noise that made the poll audible only as the surges of sound paused to let the figures reach the clerk. The result was forecast with the first vote of the 44th ballot. Alabama swung solid to Cox. State by state, delegations who had stuck out for McAdoo with divided delegations, followed suit. The slide had set in and there was no stopping it. The convention had its mind set on nomination on that ballot. Up, up, went the Ohio total of votes. As it passed the 700 mark with the necessary two-thirds just ahead, Chairman Robinson hurried to his desk, banging his gavel. In his final thum, Chairman Robinson put the question and the answer roared back at him.

The 44th ballot was never completed in the great chorus of acclamation. It was swept away as unnecessary.

The nomination of Governor Cox means that the two great parties not only have come into the same (Continued on Page Four)

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 6.—When William G. McAdoo was informed on rising this morning that James M. Cox of Ohio had been nominated as the democrat candidate for the presidency his only comment was:

"I am relieved and delighted that the call did not come to me." Mr. McAdoo showed every evidence that he was pleased and explained he would have a statement to make later in the day.

Break of the Deadlock.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—With the 37th ballot, Palmer's strength took another drop, amidst wild jubilation by the McAdoo supporters. Chairman Robinson fought for order and led Former Representative Carlin of Virginia, Palmer's manager, to the speaker's stand. The crowd hushed. It recognized Carlin and knew that his appearance forecast but one thing, the release of the Palmer delegates and a break up in the deadlock.

Carlin briefly stated that Attorney General Palmer was no longer willing to delay a nomination, and authorized the complete and unconditional release of his delegates. Back again in their seats under the banging urge of the gavel, the delegates awaited the 39th roll call. The Cox forces scented victory right there. The Cox band trooped into the galleries and hurled the strain of the Cox battle song, "Ohio, Ohio," down through the excited crowd.

Both McAdoo and Cox gained on the 41st ballot. The McAdoo supporters grimly determined on a last ditch fight. When Georgia was reached the delegate chairman leaped to his chair and shouted that his state, formerly in the McAdoo ranks, would join hands with the Ohio forces to name the next president. He cast the solid Georgia vote for Cox.

The 43rd roll call began in a riot of noise that made the roll audible only as the surges of sound paused to let the figures reach the clerk. The result was forecast with the first vote of the 44th ballot. Alabama swung solid to Cox. State by state delegations who had stuck out for McAdoo with divided delegations, followed suit. The slide had set in and there was no stopping it. The convention had its mind set on nomination on that ballot. Up, up, went the Ohio total of votes. As it passed the 700 mark with the necessary two-thirds just ahead, Chairman Robinson hurried to his desk, banging his gavel. In his final thum, Chairman Robinson put the question and the answer roared back at him.

The 44th ballot was never completed in the great chorus of acclamation. It was swept away as unnecessary. The nomination of Governor Cox means that the two great parties not only have gone into the same (Continued on Page Four)

news of American Legion

Who said Norman Howard post can't work? Forty members spent all day Sunday and Sunday night hauling materials to the picnic grounds and building by hand every stand that was on the grounds, also the platforms and boxing arena. Monday the same gang was on the job bright and early selling the drinks, eats and novelties, laborers, managers, salesforce, cashiers, racers, fighters, everything. Just the old time army pep. The grand success makes it worth while.

The picnic was a big success financially and otherwise. The fireworks, fights, battle royal, dancing, swimming, boating, speaking, and everything was enjoyed by everybody. The legion employed men to park the automobiles. The cars came in too fast, the grounds were soon filled up and a half on both sides with cars and wagons from the entire county. People came to the grounds at nearly midnight with the story that they had been so far down the road and could not go backward or forward due to the jam in the road and had to sit for hours in their cars and wait. The legion apologizes for our one way road.

Ruth Mount, Zuma Horton, May Burdick: The legion boys are certainly grateful to you and every one of us noticed and appreciated your untiring work for our picnic; and the other girls, too, who helped us so diligently. We will always hold a warm spot in our hearts for you.

Colonel, let's have a Croix de Picnic, for Ruth Mount, Zuma Horton and May Burdick, facing the firing line from early morn to late at night, overcome with fatigue and starvation, they stayed at their posts like regular heroes.

Fellow Legionnaires: If you are not acquainted with Ruth Mount, Zuma Horton and May Burdick, if you don't know who they are, you had better know them. From now on you are their big brothers and under their commands to do whatever they might order you.

The Impulse.

It seems to me I'd like to go Where bells don't ring, nor whistles blow,
Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs
don't sound
And I'd have stillness all around.

Not real stillness, but just the trees
Low whispering, or the hum of bees,
Or brooks' faint babbling over stones
In strangely, soft tangled tones.

Or maybe a cricket or a katydid,
Or the songs of birds in hedges hid,
Or just some such sweet sounds as these
To fill a tired heart with ease.

If 'twere't for sight and sound and smell,
I'd like a city pretty well;
But when it comes to getting rest,
I like the country lots the best.

Sometimes it seems to me I must
Just quit the city's din and dust
And get out where the sky is blue;
And, say, how does it seem to you?
—Eugene Field.

there was an air raid going on.

The brother looked around him out of half-closed eyes. On every side stretched long rows of white monuments. Sirens shrilled from the city streets. Dazzling beams of white light stabbed the heavens. There could be but one conclusion.

Hastily searching his pockets, he drew forth his remaining possessions
—a bottle of vin blanc, a pack of greasy cards, a much worn pair of ivories—and hurried them from him.

AFTER THE BALL

MISS DEMOCRACY—"I Didn't Miss a Dance and I Flirted With All of Them—but Cox Is My Favorite for a Partner."

With the Women of Today

Mrs. Ora Anne Hinson has just returned from the Near East, where she has had charge of the baking for just about the largest family imaginable. The daily batch of bread for "her family" called for at least eight and a half tons of flour.
Mrs. Hinson's family consists, or did consist until some weeks ago, of some 45,000 Armenian refugees, all of whom looked to her for their daily rations.

It was a gigantic task for any one to tackle, but it looked even bigger than it was to the young American business woman down in Swainsboro, Ga., whose activities before had been limited to services for a law firm in the small town and making rolls and coffee for two in a neat southern bungalow. Near Hinson's experience in the Near East has given her this idea. "Once an American woman leaves her native shores she must prove herself equal to any occasion. She is regarded everywhere as a superwoman and she must make good the title."

Mrs. Hinson returned recently from Tiflis, Turkey. She asserts that there is nowhere in the world where the dollar can be made go farther or do more than in the Near East today. She also remarked that "for living in a 'minimum wage' the Armenians hold the record."

Women's Kitchen Success
The restaurant business of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, which has been conducted by women for more than a year in an old-time saloon in New York City, has grown to such an extent that the association has been forced to obtain larger quarters, which curiously enough were also occupied by a saloon in the wet days of the ante-prohibition era.

The kitchen and lunchroom was opened to the public a short time after the war time prohibition law became effective.
During the last year, in this converted saloon, known as the People's Kitchen, 125,095 meals were served at an average cost to the patrons of about 23 cents a meal. Prices

IT STANDS TO REASON

It stands to reason that Want Ads must produce re-

Answer These Important Questions

Have you ever had cause to doubt that you enjoy perfect vision? Do your eyes feel sore after a spell of close work—aching, smarting, or feeling as if sand or grit was lodged behind the lids?

Do you ever, while reading, find that the print suddenly "goes misty," and confused? Is it necessary for you to hold your book or newspaper further away from the eyes than formerly—or do you need a stronger light? Do you find that reading or sewing for an extra hour or two causes headaches?

If you have noticed any of these peculiarities with your eyes you should have them carefully examined. Call and see us at once.

THANKFUL FOR HER HEALTH

Before Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Mrs. Penkey was Miserably Ill.

Citrus, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I was troubled with serious female trouble. At times I was so weak and nervous I could not stand it to hear my baby cry. I tried doctor's medicine with no results. At last a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I did and am completely cured. I am thankful for your wonderful medicine and can use my testimonial as you think best."

—Mrs. JOHN PENKEY, R. 3, Box 6, Ottawa, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

To Expose Churchill

LONDON, July 3.—Newspapers friendly to the Russian Bolsheviks, give much prominence to an alleged secret document published in the newspaper Pravda or Moscow, on June 18th, which is said to expose Winston Spencer Churchill's "intrigues" with the Russian Imperialists in support of General Denekine, the South Russian Bolshevik leader. This document, it is said, purports to be a confidential report from General Golovine, the commander to Foreign Minister Nazanoff, and tells of the former's conversation with Churchill and other British officials. The claim is made by the Herald, organ of labor, that the document proves Churchill tricked the country into making war upon Russia.

THINK ABOUT IT

Very often people are fortunate enough to buy second-hand articles at a fraction of their real value which serve a better purpose and are really more suitable for the special use desired than brand new and expensive articles would be.

Indeed, there are many almost priceless antiques that have been sold "for a song" when their owners were suddenly confronted with the need of ready cash. Many people, too, possess things which they would like to exchange for others.

In the News want columns appear many opportunities to obtain splendid bargains in just those second-hand articles which you have long desired.

Many exchanges of household wares are also effected daily through the News want ads to the great benefit of both parties concerned. Call No. 4 and ask for the want ad taker.

The Art Preservative

Many a successful business man dates his start up the ladder of finance from the time he discovered that printing, artistically done, is the greatest business builder known to modern men. One should remember, however, that the printing must be done correctly and on good paper to get the best results. To get the best results a print shop must have plenty of machinery, type, inks and experienced and artistic printers. All these can be found in the News Print Shop. It is the best equipped and manned of any print shop in the South eastern part of the state. Phone us for quotations or better still send in the job and tell us to get it out.

Here's how Joe's fish story really started

WE CLAMBERED down.
THROUGH HEAVY thickets.
AND WE rowed the boat
OUT TO a rocky ledge.
WHERE BLACK bass hide.
THEN JOE let out a roar.
FOR HIS cigar box.
HAD FISH lines in it.
INSTEAD OF smokes.
AND HE refused with scorn.
OUR CIGARETTES.
HE SAID they were not
EVEN FIT for bait.
HE'D HAVE a man's smoke,
OR NOTHING.
AND FOR an hour.
HE GOT nothing.
NOT EVEN a bite.
WHILE WE pulled 'em in.
AT LAST he grunted.
"GIMME A cigarette."
AND IT just happened.
HIS LUCK changed then.
SO NOW Joe swears.
THAT THOSE cigarettes.
WERE SO blamed good.
HE BAITED a hook
WITH ONE of them.
AND CAUGHT a whale.
PARTICULAR FISH, he says.
HIMSELF AMONG them.
ARE JUST the sort.
THAT THEY satisfy.

MANY a cigar smoker will agree that Chesterfields "satisfy." They let you know you're smoking. And yet they're mild—mild and smooth. What's the secret? Just knowing how to blend choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—just right!

BRICKBATS

The Pittsburg County Guardian takes issue with an editorial run in the Evening News recently concerning the report of the Russell Sage Foundation that gave Oklahoma thirty-sixth place among the states in the matter of education. The Guardian in a polite but emphatic way brands the author of the Sage report as a "New England nut", and pays a high tribute to the educational system of Oklahoma. It denies categorically that rural schools have been "shamefully neglected", as the Evening News alleged. All of which recalls to our mind the following letter received recently from one of the foremost citizens of Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, June 10, 1920.

Dear Luther:

I have just read your editorial concerning the poor showing made by the schools in Oklahoma. You lament that the Russell Sage Foundation placed Oklahoma in the thirty-sixth place. I am inclined to think that the Foundation correctly placed the schools of Oklahoma and I am not surprised at the classification, as you seem to be. . . . You might just as well drop that subject, however. If you attempt to correct that condition those in power will, in self defense, have to deny that there is anything wrong. You are just one and they are many, and your efforts will probably come to naught. Take my advice and continue to shout with the crowd about our WONDERFUL SCHOOLS! It will not cause you to accumulate enemies, and then bear in mind that the Sage report does not "come out" very often and the average citizen never learns just how Oklahoma schools do rank, when judged by outsiders. IN NEWSPAPER ARTICLES and IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED we brag and brag about our wonderful educational system, and when disinterested parties take our measure, they place us in thirty-sixth place."

The above letter was written nearly three weeks before the McAlester paper handed us the big wallop, but the writer of the above evidently understands the propensity of the press and conventions to ignore faults and magnify virtues.

It is the irony of the Frisco convention that Bryan fighting for a dry platform will meet Norman Mack of Buffalo for a wet platform. In one of Bryan's campaigns for president Norman Mack was his campaign manager. That was before national prohibition had become popular and before Bryan had become a national prohibitionist. His recent attack on Homer Cummings for attending a dinner in honor of Governor Edwards made no mention of the fact that Bryan himself had a liquor man from Buffalo to manage his campaign in 1908. But Bryan has become extremely devout and puritanical since prohibition became popular and he has been placed on the pay roll of the anti saloon league.

Reed of the Kaw may not carry out his hidden threat of quitting the Democratic party, but that is the proper course for him to pursue and the natural course. When a man no longer believes in anything a party has done or promises to do, it is the duty of such man to leave that party and affiliate with one that stands for the things he advocates. Reed has long since lost touch with the Democratic party. It believes one way: he believes just the opposite. He is a Democrat only in name and in voting a ticket that represents everything he opposes. No man has any right to vote a ticket when he believes that the success of that ticket is detrimental to the interests of his country.

A delegation of suffragettes now threaten to blacklist Harding, but that need not worry the Buckeye Senator. The delegation that visited Harding Monday is the same masculine outfit that picketed the White House and made seven different spectacles of themselves. They represent no one but themselves. They by no means represent the millions of American women who sincerely desire the ballot but who even to attain the ballot will not make unmitigated fools of themselves. Harding should worry.

If Chairman Cummings makes the same speech at San Francisco sounding the keynote of the Democratic campaign that he made last November in Oklahoma City, the identity of the Democratic darkhorse will be fully revealed. His November speech was the ablest political speech ever made in Oklahoma, and its repetition at San Francisco would prove the funeral sermon of the dozen favorite sons.

The Democrats could easily sweep the nation this year if the San Francisco convention should only play some ordinarily good politics. But it is altogether unlikely that anything like good politics will be played. One half of the delegates are out to get Wilson and the other half out to get Bryan.

"Anything to beat Wilson" was the slogan of the Chicago convention. Then it named Harding.

COX WILL HEAD TICKET

state for their candidates, but have picked two men who have for years been closely engaged in the same profession. Like Senator Harding, Governor Cox is a newspaper man, and their home towns in Ohio are not far apart.

The West Virginia 16 votes stood steadfast for Davis during the entire balloting. Also the score of Oklahomaans instructed for Senator Owen and nine Nebraskans controlled by Bryan, and voting almost from the first for Owen, never wavered.

By the Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—No slate for the vice presidency appeared decided upon and the nomination was apparently open on the floor of the convention when it re-assembled this afternoon. The nomination of Governor Cox, however, brought out suggestions which had been talked over for use in the event of his nomination.

Many leaders thought that if the vice presidential nomination went to the east, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, would lead the list.

On considering the middle west, they were looking toward Joseph E. Davies, of Wisconsin, former chairman of the federal trade commission and one of the chairmen of the democratic national committee.

In the far west, they were considering Governor Samuel George Stewart of Montana.

The session called for noon today was delayed by a session of congratulations, for which nobody had time early this morning when the convention adjourned.

Senator Walsh of Montana, it became known, as the convention was re-assembling, would place Governor Stewart of Montana in nomination for vice president.

It seems possible that besides the names of Roosevelt, Governor Stewart and Mr. Davies, the names of James Hamilton Lewis, Secretary Meredith and Major General Tyson, of Tennessee, would go before the convention at noon. Judge Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, convention manager for Cox, was still trying to reach the nominee over long distance telephone to learn if he had any choice for the vice president nominee.

Conventionettes

Printers Honor Cox.

From Tuesday's Daily
DAYTON, Ohio, July 6.—During the morning, meetings were held by officials of the Dayton chamber of commerce, who let it be known that they are planning a huge jubilation meeting tonight, when the city of Dayton will extend congratulations to Governor Cox. When the Governor arrived at his newspaper office this morning, he was presented with resolutions of congratulations from union printers working on the paper.

Davis Sends Message

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 6.—Ambassador John W. Davis, when informed of the nomination of James M. Cox, of Ohio, by the democratic national convention at San Francisco, this morning, sent the following message to Governor Cox: "My hearty congratulations upon your nomination. You can and will lead the party to a well deserved victory."

Edwards Congratulates Cox.

By the Associated Press
JERSEY CITY, July 6.—Governor Edwards of New Jersey, defeated candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, today sent this message to Governor Cox: "Sincere congratulations. Your nomination is well deserved and spells success."

Ohio to Stand Pat

By the Associated Press
MARION, Ohio, July 6.—Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, in a statement today said: "Governor Cox deserves the democratic presidential nomination," but added that his selection would not change the republican campaign plans in Ohio in any way.

In placing the name of Governor James M. Cox of Ohio in nomination before the convention, Judge James G. Johnson said:

"With Cox as your candidate, Ohio is democratic, and with Ohio democratic, victory is yours," declared Judge James G. Johnson of Springfield, Ohio, in presenting the name of Governor Cox.

"The election this year will fix the status of America for a generation," said Judge Johnson. "Not only will it decide whether we shall take our rightful place at the very head of the nations in a united effort for civilization, or shall lapse into sullen ostracism in the face of opportunities for service to humanity which no people ever had; but it will also decide whether the domestic progress and vast productive energies of this continent shall be turned back into reactionary channels after a period of splendid achievement in democratic administration."

"When this country was forced into the great world war, our people in common with their fellow countrymen in all of the states, were thrilled by the call of the great man who sits in the seat of Washington and Lincoln and who with superb spirit and matchless phrase interpreted the highest aspirations and the invincible purpose of the free peoples of the earth. If envy, hatred and passion shall deprive him of his just recognition now, and deprive his country and humanity of the benefits of his vast service in their behalf, succeeding generations will pay increasing devotion to his honor. The mighty appeal he made to the resistless forces of civilization will place him among the colossal figures in the history of mankind.

"As we enter the great contest now impending, our opponents fan every flame of discontent. They pool every discordant element in order to carry the election. Unmindful of the effect in the welfare of the republic, and in the orderly processes of society, they arouse bitter prejudice and set in motion forces which it is easy to see may become uncontrollable. They do not hesitate to cast a cloud on the glory won for our country by the millions of boys who grandly carried the flag in the battlefields of Europe and with unconquerable spirit placed it at the very front of the columns of civilization.

"All the world felt that democracy, freedom and friendship had a new meaning in the earth.

"The American people must now decide whether that proud position which our soldiers and our people won shall be abandoned or whether we shall now show ourselves worthy of the inheritance we have enjoyed.

"The democratic party needs a candidate who holds in his heart the memory of the glorious record of the incomparable American boy and who looks forward with courage and capacity to grasp the opportunities and to meet the difficulties and dangers yet to come. He must know the beginnings and the reasons for this republic. He must know its spirit; and the spirit of the wise men who founded it. He must know that Americanism is not an idle ceremony, that it is not a thing to be gained in a day, or a year; but that it is the result of the slow processes of education and of the influence of association and contact with those who have enjoyed and appreciate what enlightened liberty is. He must know that America can not hold herself away from the rest of the world, that science and invention and genius have removed all barriers on land and sea and have brought together all the races whether they will or not. He must realize that the huge debts imposed upon all nations by the bloody struggle make it imperative that the American president shall be a man of great business and executive capacity; that this debt can only be paid by wealth produced in the factories and mines and on the farms of the country; and that there must be the devoted, united and harmonious work of every capitalist and every worker to accomplish the mighty task. The taxes must be intelligently laid to the end that this capital and this labor may be, as far as possible, unfettered.

"The great state, of which I have spoken, presents a man who has these qualities in full and rounded measure. His strength is not the passing fancy of a mere lucky urn on the political board. It is the solid strength and power that is slowly fixed in the judgment of the people after actual performance and service. His friends do not generalize, they specify. For eight years he has been under the searchlight in our state. In each of the years new problems were met, new difficulties encountered, new demands made upon his tireless industry and upon the resources of his leadership and statesmanship. He has constantly grown with the severity of the test. At every crisis and at every new trial, he has developed a splendid reserve force and capacity.

"All saw and admired the resolute stand he took for the impartial enforcement of the law. He demanded of every subordinate executive officer in every county and in every municipality the same unquestioning observance of equal and exact justice. His spirit was so high and his sense of fairness so even and manifest that no soldier was ever needed to march between capital and labor.

"Recognizing the right of every man to his opinion on every proposed public measure, after the discussion was over and the judgment of the people had been written into the law of the state, he has, with the same cool and deliberate hand, enforced that law. No sincere, well-informed citizen of Ohio, has denied that proposition. This has been and will be, his position to the end.

"When our country entered the war, our governor, with invincible enthusiasm and untiring energy, stepped to his rightful place as the leader in organizing our contribution to the man-power of the army, the great productive energies of our mines, our factories, and our farms. Backed by the best men and best women, without regard to party, he disclosed a capacity for leadership in that sacred cause which placed him at the very front among the great American war governors.

"The expenses of his campaign are met from the small and voluntary contributions of those who know him best. He is bound by no express or implied obligations to any class or interest.

"For a half century Ohio was normally republican but three times this man has been elected governor of the Buckeye state. The last time he was the only man on the democratic ticket who I doubt if there are many instances in which a chief executive has made the sure and steady advance in the confidence and esteem and ripened judgment of his fellow-citizens of all classes that this man has made in Ohio. His real genius for executive duty and his record of accomplishment, has increased his popularity and strength far beyond the power of our opponents to overcome, however huge the campaign fund may be."

False Pretenses

Charge Against Steedman Citizen

A warrant was issued in Justice Brown's court this morning for R. C. Lancaster of the Steedman community on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It is said that Lancaster gave a check on one of the local banks and that the check was valueless for the reason that the signer had no money in the bank and never did have.

Luther Harrison went to We-woka the last of the week to attend the funeral of W. E. White, who died early Saturday morning. Mr. White was an employee of the We-woka Capital-Democrat and formerly worked for Mr. Harrison at We-woka. During the Spanish-American war, Mr. White served in one of the Mississippi regiments.

Registration Books Will Open For Ten Days, July 13 to 23

I am writing to call your attention to the requirements of the general registration laws, that the books should be open for a supplementary registration for a ten day period, beginning twenty days and closing ten days before each election. This year your books should be open upon the 14th day of July, and close on the 23rd day of July.

I desire to direct your particular attention to section nine of the registration act of 1916, where you will find these specific provisions of law under which this registration is made.

I desire also to call your specific attention to the provisions of section 8, wherein the following language is used:
"That no change in registration shall be granted on the ground of change of political party's application, except be made at least 30 days before the next succeeding general primary election."

If I have calculated correctly no person is permitted to change his political affiliation of record since the 5th day of May. At any time before that period it was competent for any citizen to go to his precinct registrar with his registration certificate and ask for a new certificate in any new party with which he wished to affiliate, but the time is past for that change and I want to urge all precinct registrars to be careful and give the right instructions.

Registration books will be open at the city hall for Ward No. 1, Somer Jones, registrar.

Registration books will be open at Hope-Conn drug store for Ward No. 2, T. O. Cullins, registrar.

Registration books will be open at Ellis' furniture store for Ward No. 3.

Registration books will be open at O. J. Davidson's grocery for Ward No. 4.

C. W. Floyd at the Surprise Store will register all of Daggs Precinct.

P. A. Norris at First National bank will register all of Capitol Hill Precinct.

T. O. CULLINS,
County Registrar.

Stockholders Meeting

There will be a regular semi-annual meeting of the stockholders of the News Publishing and Printing company in the office of the company in the city of Ada, Oklahoma, at five o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, July 13, 1920.

The Lions Club's regular noon-day luncheon was held at the Harris hotel today with a goodly number of members present.

Very little new business was on the program, so most of the business hour was spent discussing the boy scout movement and laying plans to get the work of organization in shape.

On motion of Judge Orel Busby, properly seconded, the club voted to pay the boy scout movement one hundred dollars a year out of the treasury of the club.

The club voted also to appoint a committee of five to go into counsel with National Scout Deputy Wilson for the appointment of an executive council of at least twenty-five members to manage the boy scout movement. The chair appointed the following members on this committee: Orel Busby, Arthur Marshall, M. R. Chilcutt, R. W. Simpson and J. A. Smith.

A BACHELOR PRESIDENT
1791—April 23, James Buchanan born in Franklin county, Pa.
1815-16—Member of the legislature.
1819—Tragic death of his betrothed, Annie C. Coleman.
1821-31—Member of congress.
1832-34—Minister to Russia.
1834-45—Senator.
1845-49—Secretary of state.
1853-55—Minister to Great Britain.
1856—Democratic nominee for president.

Five Minute Chats on Our Presidents
By JAMES MORGAN
(Copyright, 1920, by James Morgan.)
ADRIFT IN A STORM
1857—March 4, James Buchanan inaugurated 15th president, aged sixty-five.
March 5, Dred Scott decision.
1859—Aug. 5, Completion of Atlantic cable.
Oct. 16, John Brown's raid.
1861—Feb. 4, the Southern Confederacy formed.
March 4, Buchanan retired from the presidency.
1868—June 1, died at Wheatland, Pa., aged seventy-seven.

JAMES BUCHANAN was the last president to wrap his neck in a stock, as Monroe was the last to wear knee-breeches—and he was the last of an era. An age passed away as he passed out of the White House. After Buchanan's birth at a Pennsylvania log cabin, his father, who was an Irish immigrant, prospered as a country storekeeper and was able to send his son to college. But the college sent him back as a wild spirit that it could not tame. The pastor of the scandalized family begged and obtained a chance for the wayward youth, who improved it so well that he graduated first in his class. Nevertheless, the still unforgiving faculty denied him the honors of his rank. This would be but a dull story of law and politics were it not for a single tragic episode which cast a shadow over the whole after life of our bachelor president, the only president to die a bachelor. A young woman, to whom Buchanan was engaged in early manhood, a daughter of the wealthiest family in the county, wrote him a letter of dismissal under the spell of a jealousy which had been aroused by gossip. Pride on both

BECAUSE the drama of history, like that of the theater, must have its heroes and villains, James Buchanan has been painted all black in the opening scene of the Civil war, loaded down with all the weaknesses and sins of his generation and banished forever into the wilderness. Anyone can see now, with the aid of hindsight, what Buchanan should have done, but not what he could have done. The North itself, in the bewildering winter of 1860-61 was far from agreed that secession could or should be stopped by force. "Let the Union slide," the abolitionists said. "Let the erring brethren go," said Horace Greeley. "Wayward sisters, depart in peace," General Scott would have said to the seceding states. In common with the politicians of his fast vanishing time Buchanan clung to the idea that freedom rather than slavery was to blame for all the trouble. He had not gone with Douglas and the northern wing of the divided Democrats in the campaign of 1860, but had sided with the southerners and voted for Breckinridge. When the first state seceded he was already within ten weeks of the end of his term, with a hostile congress in sides kept the two apart until their separation was made irrevocable by her sudden death—probably by suicide. In grief and horror, the young lover wrote to the father of the dead girl, begging the privilege of looking upon her remains and of following them to the grave. But the letter was returned to him unopened. Four and forty years passed, and Buchanan went to his grave without ever having taken any other woman to his heart. When his executors opened the papers, which the aged ex-president had left in a bank vault, they found among them a little packet of treasured love letters from his sweetheart of long ago. But in accordance with the request written on the outside, those faded mementoes of his only love were burned without breaking the seal on them. Buchanan was by no means a crabbed old bachelor. He remained always most courteously attentive to women, though with a perfect impartiality. Nor did he keep bachelor's ball. At Wheatland, his country place near Lancaster, Pa., he brought up, from early childhood, the orphaned son of one of his sisters and the orphaned daughter of another, who became, as Miss Harriet Lane, one of the most admired mistresses of the White House. After Buchanan had risen to top rank at the Pennsylvania bar, with a practice that brought him as much as $12,000 in a year, he entered politics. Starting as a Federalist, he became a Democrat only at the death of the party of his first choice. He was elected to the legislature and to congress; was thrice elected to the senate; served as minister to Russia and Great Britain and was secretary of state in Polk's cabinet. For 20 years an unsuccessful candidate for the presidential nomination, the veteran politician had all but given up hope when at last it came to him unsought in 1856 on his return from a long absence as American minister in London. As he accepted it, he sighed that the honor had been denied him until he was too old to enjoy it, "when all the friends I loved and wanted to reward are dead and all the enemies I hated and had marked for punishment are turned my friends."

front of him and behind him a country as irresolute as himself. As he saw the Union falling to pieces he hoped on that it could be patched together again by another old-fashioned compromise. All the while there were southern members of his cabinet who were staying in Washington only to ship federal war supplies south and to aid in the preparations for destroying the government. Edwin M. Stanton of Ohio, although himself a Breckinridge Democrat, bluntly warned Buchanan: "You are sleeping on a volcano. The ground is mined all around and under you and ready to explode, and without prompt and energetic action you will be the last president of the United States." "Mr. Stanton," pleaded the feeble old man, "for God's sake come in and help me." The first day that Stanton took his seat at Buchanan's cabinet table he told the secretary of war, Floyd of Virginia, that he "ought to be hanged on a gallows higher than Haman's" for having ordered Major Anderson, without the knowledge of the president, to stay in a defenseless old fort at Charleston harbor instead of transferring himself to Fort Sumter, as the major had done in defiance of orders. Before the middle of January the cabinet was reorganized and Buchanan was surrounded by staunch Union men, who swept him along at a pace which sometimes left him breathless. The new secretary of the treasury, John A. Dix, quietly reported one day that he had sent to New Orleans his now famous message: "If any man attempts to haul down the American flag shoot him on the spot." "Did you write such a letter as that?" Buchanan exclaimed. "No," Dix replied. "I telegraphed it." Had Buchanan been a man of iron instead of putty, probably he could have done no good in that chaotic interregnum between the election and inauguration of his successor. If he had taken any step which should have hastened Virginia and Maryland into revolt there would have been no national capital on March 4, 1861. The retiring president would only have made heavier, perhaps impossible, the task which he wearily laid upon a stouter soul when he transferred the presidency to Lincoln and sadly tottered into the shadows.

President Wilson at his desk.

This photograph of President Wilson was taken by George W. Harris, one of the heads of the noted Washington picture syndicate, while the president was transacting his regular morning work on June 19. It is, therefore, the latest picture of the chief executive. Mr. Harris says of his hour visit with the president: "He looks fine, better than I expected."

The News Bible Lesson

Proverbs 14:17-26
He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly; and a man of wicked devices is hated.
The simple inherit folly; but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.
The evil bow before the good and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.
The poor is hated even of his own neighbor; but the rich man hath many friends.
He that despiseth his neighbor sinneth; but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he.
Do they not err that devise evilly but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good.
In all labor there is profit; but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury.
The crown of the wise is their riches; but the foolishness of fools is folly.
A true witness delivereth souls; but a deceitful witness speaketh lies.
In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence; and his children shall have a place of refuge.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER FOLLOWS KINDLY ACT

Mormon Joe, a hermit sheep herder, is one of the strong characters in "The Fighting Shepherdess," the latest First National starring vehicle of Anita Stewart, to be shown at the Liberty Theater today. He saves Kate Prentice, beautiful daughter of the proprietor of a western inn; takes her away from her sordid surroundings and makes her his partner in the sheep business. When Mormon Joe is murdered, Kate finds herself in a most complicated and compromising situation. Miss Stewart plays the part of Kate Prentice, while Noah Beery acts the role of Mormon Joe.

Backed by Truth
You have heard people read an advertisement and then say, "I don't believe it."
Once upon a time they might have been right, for dishonest people have advertised. But there are two good reasons why practically all advertising today is honest.
One reason is that no good newspaper will print dishonest advertising.
The other reason is that experience has proven that dishonest advertising hurts the advertiser far more than it does the buyer of the goods. This fact is easy to understand. A person may be dishonest in a quiet, sneaky way, for a long time and never actually be caught at it. But an advertisement is a combination agreement and guarantee.
A merchant or manufacturer inserts an advertisement in a paper. That advertisement carries certain statements and certain claims for the goods mentioned. To speak such statements and claims is one thing; but to print them, and sign your name to them, and to send this out for everyone to read, is giving the public a guarantee.
That's why it will pay you to read advertisements and buy advertised goods. Every advertisement is your guarantee of value.

GREATER LOVE HATH NO MAN THAN THESE TWO PLAYERS; THEY LEAD LEAGUE IN LAYING DOWN THEIR BASEHIT LIVES

Joe Gedeon of the Browns and Ray Chapman of the Indians are leading the American league right now in sacrificing. These two birds are running an even race in the number of times they have passed up a chance to hit 'er out to dump one in front of the plate. Recent averages showed them tied with twenty-two suicides each and their nearest competitor was Donnie Bush, with seventeen. Because of the fact that both boys are speed merchants they have dumped many more than twenty-two in between the pitcher and catcher, as they have beaten out many before the ball could be fielded and snapped to first.

Ray Chapman, hitting the dirt, and Joe Gedeon.

Fred Coumbe.

By Norman D. Brown. The orchestra will please strike up that stirring ballad "Till I Come Back to You," while we introduce to this column one Fritz Coumbe. When this happy-go-lucky portside was given the tinware by the Indians last spring because of his failure to get into winning form the majority of fans and his teammates were sorry to see him go. A straightforward chap, clean liver and well liked; but he had one failing—inability to take baseball in general and pitching in particular seriously. In training camp he'd sooner cavort in the outfield than warm up his soupbone.

Manager Spacker sent him to St. Paul. Coumbe took the news gracefully. Before he left he wrote a note to Owner Jim Dunn. And the gist of the note was: "I'm not downhearted, because I know I can show you that I can make good in the A. A., and I'll be back with you next year if you're still looking for more pitchers."

And Coumbe is living up to his boast. His work with the Saints has been little short of marvelous. He has pitched half a dozen few hit games and his batting has helped win a few games for him, and his teammates.

Coumbe joined the Indians in 1914, being traded by the Red Sox along with A. L. Johnson and again for Veau Gregg. In flashes Coumbe showed the stuff of which great lefthanders are made. But his season record was never very good. One season he started off with five straight victories only to fizzle for the remainder of the campaign.

His best year was in 1918, when he copped 13 games and lost 7. He was born in Antrim, Pa., in 1892. He made his bow to baseball fans in 1913 with the Utica team in the New York State league. The Red Sox drafted him the following season.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the school board of Ada, Pontotoc county, Oklahoma, for the erection of a three story stone and brick school building, to be built at Ada, Okla.

Plans are on file with J. E. Hickman, school superintendent, at Ada, Okla., and at the office of Jewell Hicks, architect, 19 1/2 W. Main st., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Bids will be opened at superintendent's office in Ada, Oklahoma, until 2 p. m., July 13, 1920.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for 5 per cent of the amount of the bid, as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder.

Checks to be made payable to the school board of Ada, Okla.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and will return checks to unsuccessful bidders at time of opening bids. Successful bidder's check will be held until contract is entered into, and then returned to him.

A Bumper Cotton Crop.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—A cotton crop of 11,450,000 bales, or larger than that of last year, was forecast today by the department of agriculture, as a result of the material improvement in the condition of the crop since May 25th. On that date the condition of the crop was the worst on record. The department based its estimate on the condition of the crop June 25th, which was 70.7 per cent of normal, and on the area under cultivation on that date, which amounted to 35,504,600 acres.

FORCES OF MEXICAN INSURGENT DEFEATED

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—Forces commanded by Carlos Osuna, insurgent leader operating in the state of Tamaulipas, has been again defeated and scattered by General Gomez, according to an official announcement last night. When he began his uprising a few days ago, Osuna had 1200 men with him, but he is now fleeing with only 80 loyal supporters, it is said.

Turkish Hostages Held

WASHINGTON, July 2.—In a concerted effort to bring about the release of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, of Illinois, who are held by Turkish nationalists an American destroyer has been dispatched to Messina, and the French authorities are holding Turkish hostages, Admiral Bristol at Constantinople reported today to the state department.

Bolsheviks Successful.

LONDON, July 3.—The Bolsheviks have captured Lembourg, Ukraine, according to news from Poland, sent by the daily mail correspondence.

SOVIET TRADE MISSION TO LOSE ITS PROPERTY

LONDON, July 3.—Russian writs have been served on the soviet trade mission here to secure sequestration of its property for the satisfaction of alleged creditors of the soviet government, according to the Herald.

The newspaper adds that the action will raise the international question of the right of a revolutionary government to nationalize industry without compensation to the stock holder, and abjure debts contracted by its predecessors.

Car Shortage Relieved.

CHICAGO, July 3.—If the car situation can be held so that conditions do not become any worse, it is believed by railroad officials that in ten days a material improvement will be shown in the western territory. The commissions order sending 28,000 empty grain cars from the east to the west is in the process of execution but the cause of slow movement results are not yet in evidence.

"Beating Back" Into Society, Young Ada Puts on a Show

Not only does "beating back" to society with the intention of making a reputation as "a cat among the wimmin" prove expensive, but often fatal to automobiles and their occupants.

Here is what actually occurred in this city from Saturday night until Tuesday morning by "Gasoline Gus," a driver of that famous rambling piece of mechanism known as a Ford.

"Gus" is a young man in this city that is very fond of the ladies, or rather pretends to be, and is often guilty of staging a show with his car that will make Douglas Fairbanks or "Dare-devil Jack" take back-water like a crow-fish.

Saturday night this young man, while under the influence of Coca-Cola, and chewing a very popular brand of chewing gum and chaperoned by some of Ada's most popular young ladies, decided he would put on something out of the ordinary just to show the population that he was "around here."

"The first stunt was to make a race track out of the road leading to the Normal with a series of yells that sounded as if the whole reservation at Fort Sil had arrived in Ada and were holding a stomp dance right here in our midst. The police made it rather warm for this young man and he decided to pull in home and take a good rest and wait until morning for further instructions from the ladies who were assisting him in putting on the show.

Sunday morning, the young man rose bright and early and proceeded to wind up the Ford a la Seth Thomas style. After a minute's pleading with this machine, and asking the Ford to have a heart, the young man finally started to the scene of former activities, by way of the homes of his young lady friends. He stated that he was awakened by the noise of some one in the neighborhood of Seventeenth street who was shooting firecrackers.

The young man was well on his way when a tire blew out and the "fiver" ran into a ditch. A trouble car from a local garage assisted in placing the car on level ground and the party proceeded to the lake. Aside from making the fish crawl out on the banks and stirring up the water no damage was done. They came back to the city and went to church and pledged among themselves never to be guilty of stunts again. The young ladies invited the young man to take dinner with them so papa could see him. He accepted and evidently made a hit as the old man and the young Ford driver were seen down town together after lunch hour and seemed to be getting very thick. (Tip to jewelers.)

In the afternoon this young man took in the ball game and to show the spectators that he was flushed and a dead game sport pulled a roll of bills (U. S. money) and dared any one to bet him in any way, shape, form or fashion. The crowd looked him over and finally called his money during the game this young man yelled, chewed chewing gum and smoked cigarettes which some people don't exactly approve of. He bet his money on the local team and lost but stated that he was of the happy-go-lucky sort and didn't care for expenses as long as he was not out anything. Aside from drinking cokes and riding his tri-cycle on the pavement all was well for the day.

After a good night's rest and knowing that the American Legion picnic was to be held at the lake, he called up the young ladies and asked them to accompany him to the lake where there was something doing every minute and a lot of other things in between times. He rambled out to this popular place and bought generously of soda-pop and hamburgers, took the girls out for a boat ride, set the girls up in the shade and made them listen to a concert by the High School Cadet band.

He began to feel the effects of the soda pop by this time and proceeded to "cut up" by throwing rocks in the lake and stating that he was an American citizen and had served three months in the medical corps of the army and was proud of it. He filled the back end of his car with rocks and weeds and said he was not going to bring them back until next year. The young ladies saw that he was getting too bad and remembering that they had to go home informed this young fellow that they had about enough of the picnic and had better go to town. They talked about the picnic and complimented the ex-soldiers for the way they handled the crowd and furnished the amusements.

This morning he was down town and on the job feeling like a young mule and stated the Fourth of July came but once a year and that he felt as he had done his part in making things lively in this city and was heard to remark, "Gee, but ain't it a grand and glorious feeling."

News Notes From the Normal

SENIORS OF LAST TERM
Left to Right—Jewel Norman, Daisy Britt, Mattie Lucas

Miss Willie Robinson, one of the Seniors of last term, is here visiting friends.

We are all feeling fine this morning. Had a good rest and spent the holiday not so safe, but tried to make it sane.

And don't forget the picture show next Friday night. A good picture program and special music. All are invited.

The "Old Man" celebrated the Fourth by staying at home and planning to provide for an affair to be held this week.

Assembly tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. All are invited to attend. Good program and special feature musical numbers.

Miss Anna Weaver Jones spent the holiday with friends in Oklahoma City. She says she had a fine time and didn't get home till late and kinda' feels tough this morning. The train was late.

The students who stayed in this city for the picnic at the City Lake yesterday were well pleased with the affair and wish to thank the American Legion for the courtesies shown them during the day.

The Y. W. C. A. girls will go on a picnic to Jack Fork Creek tomorrow. They are going to make the trip in trucks and will take lunch. A good time is assured those who attend.

The Y. W. C. A. girls acted as life savers this morning. We were all somewhat worn out as a result of having spent a most strenuous Fourth. The refreshment stand acted as the station, the girls as the nurses and that delicious ice cream was the stimulant. We are for them, even stronger than horse-radish.

President Perkins has returned from Oklahoma City where he attended a convention for normal school presidents. He stated that a very interesting meeting was had and all enjoyed the affair very much.

A meeting of the "Dignified Pedagogues" held on the Normal campus this morning revealed the fact that many of the members of this organization spent the Fourth in this city and sure did make the fish run in the lake.

The Seniors are to take the Phia Betas to Byrd's Mill this week. Swimming and a good supper are on the program of this event.

The boy's baseball teams are to have a few games in the afternoon this week. All are invited to attend.

When is Prof. McMillan going to dig his elephant out of the ground? The students are anxious to see this animal and are hoping that he will get busy in the next few days and raise the big monster from its resting place.

Miss Louise Halsell, the young lady student who created a lot of excitement here some time ago by making a raid on a crate of cantaloupes at the Katy station, says she was down at the station last night and would have gotten away with another crate of the eatables, but a big policeman had his eye on her.

The Seniors have planned to have their picnic at the Byrd's Mill next Thursday evening. It is planned to leave town about six o'clock and this will give them plenty of time to make a survey in the daylight of the watermelon patches along the road. Anyway they are going to play safety first and take something to eat in case there are no available water melons in the patches.

Ada Baseball Nine to Tangle With the Calico Here Friday

Carry the news, to the Peach Orchard Arabs! Grease up your jitneys and put on your striped socks!

Next Friday the Western Bloomer Girls will cross bats with Jim Coleman's pill pluggers for what promises to be one of the most interesting games of the season.

The game may not be a scientific one, and it is useless to predict the result, but curiosity will no doubt prompt the biggest attendance ever seen at Fair Park.

The game is being staged under the auspices of the American Legion, the only organization in the city with the courage to guarantee the laundry bills of the visiting team while in the city, and you are aware of the fact that the legion never loses things by halves.

Nine female knights of the bat and ball will be something new to the fans of this city, and the local team may be so illustrated that they will never put a man over the home plate, but just the same they are going against it just once for luck and it's a cinch that the show will be worth the money.

Save Shade Trees Is Suggesteion of the County Agent

The people of Pontotoc county will do well to watch their shade trees just now and protect them from the ravages of caterpillars is the opinion of county agent J. B. Hill. The worms are very active nowadays and are working on the foliage of a great many trees. A shade tree that is defoliated by the worms at this time will soon die, and people should be careful to destroy the pests. Mr. Hill says that a preparation that will kill all the worms can be made by mixing one pound of arsenate of lead with twenty gallons of water and that trees sprayed with this mixture will be immune from the attacks of the worms.

Don't forget the name of the remedy you need when the stomach or bowels are disordered. Prickly Ash Bitters quickly corrects such troubles and makes you feel bright and cheerful. You should have a bottle at home all the time. It is the dose taken promptly that prevents sickness and expense. Price $1.25 per bottle. Gwin & Mays Drug Co., Special Agents.

Ada Odd Fellows Attended Meeting Down at Sulphur

Two dozen Odd Fellows from Ada went down to Sulphur Saturday and took part in an Odd Fellows celebration that was attended by a large number of the fraternity in this section of the state. The degree work was put on by the Ada team, which won many compliments for the splendid manner in which they played their parts. It is said that the degree work was to have been competitive, but that after the other teams had witnessed the work of the Ada team they decided that it was useless to compete.

Yes, and there are even divorces in birdland, too. The bird girl discovered that one little bird left her mate for another birdie and lived happily ever afterward.

So the next time any of you small boys hear the flute like notes rolling out from the throat of a feathered little friend in the trees, or see two mocking birds snuggled close together on the limb and cooing sweet words to one another remember what the bird girl says and do not harm the happy and defenseless creatures.

At the Ada Playhouses

Liberty
Today at the Liberty, Jimmie Allred and his U. S. A. girls. Good clean comedy. Pretty girls and a harmony quartet. On the screen. Everybody's favorite, Anita Stewart in the "Fighting Shepherdess." It's wonderful, human, a great moral lesson and its true to life as we see it around us every day. Good music and a good show.

American
American theatre today, Sessue Hayakawa in "The Beggar Prince," a fantastic romance of adventure, love and laughter. A great, modern photoplay with all the charm of the old Arabian Nights. He told the sea to roll back from the shore and it did. He told the moon to hide its face—and it did. He commanded the love of a fisherman's daughter—but. He started something he couldn't finish. See Hayakawa at his best today.

The shell of a coconut makes a superior charcoal. New York has a bank which lends radium to hospitals.

Very few people appreciate the value of keeping the mechanism of a car clean. Dust and oil make an excellent grinding compound. There are a great number of small working parts in and about a car which, if neglected, will wear out very quickly and cause a great deal of trouble. By keeping these parts clean and properly lubricated much greater service will be obtained.
